
RICHARD DEUTSCH

DIRECTOR OF THE ISIS FOUNDATION (AUSTRALIA)

Richard Deutsch is the Managing Partner for PricewaterhouseCoopers Australia's Consulting Business. Richard has been a member of the Firm Executive since 2008 and was previously the Managing National Partner of Assurance. He has also held the positions: Deputy Assurance Leader; Assurance Clients and Markets Leader; Institutional Markets Leader and Insurance & Investment Management Sector Leader; and also served on PwC Australia's firm-wide leadership team for three years. He is passionate about client service and sees the building of long term relationships as critical to the success of the Assurance business going forward.

Richard is a deep financial services expert having serviced some of Australia's biggest organisations over the past 20 years. He has also provided a range of other accounting related services including acquisition and due diligence advice, internal controls and corporate governance services to some of Australia's largest companies.

He is also passionate about corporate responsibility and bringing that to bear in the corporate world.

Richard was the President of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Australia (2009-2010) and served as a Director on the Institute's board for six years. This provided Richard with a unique and invaluable insight into governance of organisations. He held a number of positions in that time including Chairman of the Board Audit Committee for 3 years, Chairman of the Premises Committee, and a member of the Nominations Committee.

Richard has been involved with the Adara Group for over 4 years. He was instrumental in establishing the Adara Ambassador Programme at PwC and continues as the Adara Sponsor at PwC.

Richard is married, with three children, and has an avid interest in sport, particularly marathons having completed 14 including the New York Marathon and Great Wall of China Marathon.
